Part 1

Poetry Anthology

Answer ONE question in Part 1 from the collection you have studied.

You should spend about 35 minutes on this section.

Relationships

One Flesh

Lying apart now, each in a separate bed, He with a book, keeping the light on late, She like a girl dreaming of childhood, All men elsewhere – it is as if they wait Some new event: the book he holds unread, Her eyes fixed on the shadows overhead.

5

Tossed up like flotsam from a former passion, How cool they lie. They hardly ever touch, Or if they do it is like a confession Of having little feeling – or too much. Chastity faces them, a destination For which their whole lives were a preparation.

10

Strangely apart, yet strangely close together,
Silence between them like a thread to hold
And not wind in. And time itself's a feather
Touching them gently. Do they know they're old,
These two who are my father and my mother
Whose fire from which I came, has now grown cold?

Time and Place

Stewart Island

'But look at all this beauty' said the hotel manager's wife when asked how she could bear to live there. True: there was a fine bay, all hills and atmosphere; white 5 sand, and bush down to the sea's edge; oyster-boats, too, and Maori fishermen with Scottish names (she ran off with one that autumn). As for me, I walked on the beach; 10 it was too cold to swim. My seven-year-old collected shells and was bitten by sandflies; my four-year-old paddled, until a mad seagull jetted down 15 to jab its claws and beak into his head. I had already decided to leave the country.

Belonging

Island Man

Morning and island man wakes up to the sound of blue surf in his head

the steady breaking and wombing wild seabirds and fishermen pushing out to sea the sun surfacing defiantly from the east of his small emerald island

of his small emerald island
he always comes back groggily groggily

Comes back to sands of a grey metallic soar

to surge of wheels

to dull North Circular roar

muffling muffling his crumpled pillow waves island man heaves himself

Another London day

Unseen Poetry

Read the two poems and answer Question 5.

You should spend about 45 minutes on this section.

Poem 1: Grannie*

I stayed with her when I was six then went To live elsewhere when I was eight years old. For ages I remembered her faint scent Of lavender, the way she'd never scold No matter what I'd done, and most of all The way her smile seemed, somehow, to enfold My whole world like a warm, protective shawl.

I knew that I was safe when she was near, She was so tall, so wide, so large, she would Stand mountainous between me and my fear, Yet oh, so gentle, and she understood Every hope and dream I ever had. She praised me lavishly when I was good, But never punished me when I was bad.

Years later war broke out and I became
A soldier and was wounded while in France.
Back home in hospital, still very lame,
I realised suddenly that circumstance
Had brought me close to that small town where she Was living still. And so I seized the chance
To write and ask if she could visit me.

She came. And I still vividly recall
The shock that I received when she appeared
That dark cold day. Huge grannie was so small!
A tiny, frail, old lady. It was weird.
She hobbled through the ward to where I lay
And drew quite close and, hesitating, peered.
And then she smiled: and love lit up the day.

Vernon Scannell (c.1993)

*Grannie: grandmother

Poem 2: Seeing Granny*

Toothless, she kisses with fleshy lips rounded, like mouth of a bottle, all wet.

She bruises your face almost, with two loving tree-root hands.

5

She makes you sit, fixed. She then stuffs you

10

She watches you feed on her food. She milks you dry of answers about the goat she gave you.

with boiled pudding and lemonade.

James Berry (1988)
